

PUBLISHER'S NOTE

The defining characteristic that makes Down-to-Earth Canadian Real Estate Investing so vastly distinct from other publications on the same topic, is that it follows the author's own diverse and fascinating journey. Chai Harjo's ten-house strategy and real-life narrative takes the complicated subject of real estate investing and makes it relatable, understandable, and achievable for anyone who has a dream and the ambition to be successful in this field.

Chai's knowledge and experience about the real estate investing business is unquestionable and he builds a solid framework for all the elements necessary to succeed as a real estate investor. But it is his passion, honesty, and commitment for helping people that really shines through even more. Chai is a mentor in the truest sense of the word.

It has been a pleasure working with Chai on this project. We're already looking forward to the wisdom he'll impart in his next book and wish him all the best in his future endeavours.
